Mobilarm secures contract to supply Crewsafe V100 locating devices to WA Government – Fire and Emergency Services Authority

- Mobilarm secures contract to supply 218 Crewsafe V100 locator devices
- FESA awarded contract to Mobilarm following tender process
- Expands Mobilarm’s Australian presence
- Builds on record Q1 2011/2012 revenue base

Perth, Western Australia: Global marine safety equipment provider, Mobilarm Limited (ASX: MBO) today announced that the Company has secured a contract with the Fire and Emergency Services Authority of Western Australia (“FESA”) to supply 218 Crewsafe V100 Maritime Survivor Locating Devices.

As part of their safety strategy to protect their marine volunteers, FESA will supply each of their 36 Volunteer Marine Rescue (VMR) groups in Western Australia with Crewsafe V100 units for use during patrols, rescue operations and training exercises.

FESA awarded Mobilarm the supply contract following a tender process, and can exercise an option to extend over four 1-year periods from the contract commencement date of 1 December 2011.

Mobilarm’s Chief Executive Officer, Lindsay Lyon, commented: “Mobilarm is pleased to have secured the contract to supply our leading emergency locating devices to FESA following a successful bid for the contract. The contract reflects the growing demand for the unique value provided by Mobilarm’s Crewsafe devices in the local market. The use of the Crewsafe V100 in Western Australia VMR operations sets a precedent for safety for all VMR groups nationally.

“Mobilarm is gaining good momentum in key market segments in Australia, the USA and in Europe. This important contract win with FESA follows the first order for our Crewsafe V200 submarine escape and rescue device from the Royal Netherlands Navy. The increase in global orders and strong sales pipeline will position Mobilarm to continue growing its revenue base in FY2012, and with record revenues already recorded in the first Quarter, the Company has a strong foundation for growth.”
